

As the world marks International Holocaust Remembrance Day—designated by the United Nations to be January 27, the anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau—the lessons of the Holocaust have never been more important. We hope you can take a moment on January 27 to honor the six million Jewish victims of the Holocaust and millions of other victims of Nazism.

Below are sample social media posts and graphics to commemorate IHRD. More information can be found at www.ushmm.org/IHRD2023.

Facebook:

I join the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in marking today—International Holocaust Remembrance Day, the anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau—to honor the memory of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation. www.ushmm.org/IHRD2023

As our nation is grappling with an alarming surge in antisemitism, it is more critical than ever for us to remember the lessons of the Holocaust and pay tribute to its victims and survivors. On International Holocaust Remembrance Day, I join with the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum and people around the world to commemorate the lives of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation, and other victims of Nazi persecution. www.ushmm.org/IHRD2023

Twitter:

I join the @HolocaustMuseum to mark today—International #HolocaustRemembranceDay, the anniversary of the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau—to honor the memory of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation. www.ushmm.org/IHRD2023

As we grapple with an alarming surge in antisemitism, we must remember the lessons of the Holocaust. On International #HolocaustRemembranceDay, I join @HolocaustMuseum in commemorating the lives of Europe’s Jews and other victims of Nazi persecution. www.ushmm.org/IHRD2023

Instagram:

I join the @HolocaustMuseum in marking today—International #HolocaustRemembranceDay, the anniversary of the liberation of #Auschwitz-Birkenau—to honor the memory of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation. www.ushmm.org/IHRD2023

As our nation is grappling with an alarming surge in antisemitism, it is more critical than ever for us to remember the lessons of the #Holocaust and pay tribute to its victims and survivors. On International #HolocaustRemembranceDay, I join with the @HolocaustMuseum and people around the world to commemorate the lives of Europe’s Jews, who were targeted for annihilation, and other victims of Nazi persecution. www.ushmm.org/IHRD2023

