

Concentration camp prisoners cheer the arrival of US soldiers, Mauthausen, Austria, May 7, 1945

American Witnesses

“I do not know words that are strong enough or expressive enough to describe the horror I saw in those few days.”

—US Army Signal Corps photographer

The special exhibition American Witnesses highlights the experiences of men and women in the US military who saw first-hand evidence of Nazi atrocities in April 1945. Using their oral, written, and visual testimony, it explores their reactions to what they saw and heard. This exhibit also includes first-hand testimonies of Holocaust survivors liberated by US military personnel.
